4.8) Assisting the agriculture sector

(Disease, through early weather predictions)

4.9) Boosting the medical sector

(Early detection of gene mutation)

5. Conclusion

Every technological advancement stimulates new debates regarding its production and proliferation, same is the case with Artificial intelligence. It is currently one of the most debated topics. However, even the clauyants are finding it difficult to predict the future of Artificial intelligence in true sense. Although, when it comes to the future role of artificial intelligence at work, everyone seems to be agree on one point — The exponential growth of A.I has a huge potential to revamp the workforce in multiple ways. It has already begun to influence the work in many ways. For instance, it has decreased the dependency over manual labor,
