Practice of Soothsaying in Ancient Greece

replace these circled words with simple vocab

Conundrums of life and nature, and man's minuteness to unravel these riddles, frightened him. It evoked the necessity to interact with the sovereign powers to get awareness regarding Gods' desires. Antecedent Greeks were used to rely upon the soothsayers - ~~intermediary~~ - for getting oracles. These soothsayers elucidated different natural signs including lightning, thundering, fire direction, dreams etc. to decode divine messages. Sometimes, Gods manifested themselves in the body of an intermediary and directly communicated with their followers. Thus prophetic was the profession of augurs in the Ancient Greece and exclusive Gods were connected with each soothsayer. The premier among them was Apollo, other oracles

Qno:1

Knowledge is quite different from understanding in many ways. Firstly, knowledge is conceptual and based upon new and old experiences.

While understanding is not conceptual and attained from discarding old experiences and accepting new ones.

Secondly, knowledge can be shared but understanding cannot be transferred.

Qno:2

Understanding is a personal feeling and experience that varies from person to person. It can be talked about but the emotions, feelings, perceptions, awareness cannot be shared.

Qno:3

Yes, the knowledge of understanding is possible. And it is a communicable knowledge that can be delivered through writing, speech or other symbolic expressions.

Qno:4

He described that knowledge of understanding is different from the understanding itself which is an immediate experience. Understanding provides the basis of that knowledge. Thus, it is as different from understanding as the doctor's prescription for medicine (penicillin) is different from medicine.

Qno:5

I completely agree with the author's definitions of knowledge and understanding. Because human being is unique in his attributes. Some's level of getting understanding is variable from others despite the similarity of knowledge. Therefore same knowledge can be attained from same source. But same understanding cannot be achieved through same experience.

"Ephialtes: A Justified Villian"

Villians were rarely justified in the movies, watched by the author. But Ephialtes, a villian from action film 300, was not wicked. His disloyalty to Leonidas was justified in his being rejected twice. He was a disabled Spartan. Spartans, as innate soldiers, were used to execute such a child. Therefore, Ephialtes's parents instead of killing their beloved son, flew from Sparta. His father trained him to be a soldier. So that, he may be accepted by Spartans one day. Notwithstanding his great weaponry skills, Leonidas disapproved him even for a suicidal mission against Persians. Leonidas alleged, his disable body was unabled to defend his adjacent fellows. This rejection provoked the despondent Ephialte to join Persian army to defeat the Spartans. According to author, if given a chance by Spartans, he would inflict a crushing defeat upon Persians. Thus he was not a betrayal.

"Nizar Hussain Filmmaking Art and Palestine"

Nizar Hussain, a Palestinian film-producer, after graduation moved to cinema. In his iconic documentary "Independence", he asked from the Palestinian interviewees about Palestinian's perspective regarding Israel claims of independence. When the global awareness of Israel illegal annexation was on rise, he produced another Palestinian film named "My Grandfather's path". He also highlighted the importance of humanity and advised Palestinians to avoid inhuman acts like that of Israeli soldiers. He praised Palestinian art which did not evoke vindictive feelings in the audience. His new film displayed the Israel's atrocities and Palestinian's point in a peaceful and artistic way. His precise version is available, but it is recommended by the author to watch as a whole.
