

_ / _ / 20_

Essay :-

Face is Fortune

1) Introduction

2) What does the statement signify?

i- The role of physical outlook in determining the behavior of society ii- The narrative of first impression is the last impression

3) Philosophical perspectives on the physical attributes:

a) Philosophy of Jean Baudrillard on simulation and simulacra, which posits that how reality is distorted by the appearance

b) Sigmund Freud on the ^{restriction of the} role of women to reproduction and pleasing men

4) Why society is pre-occupied with the impression of attractiveness:

a) Society is evolved in a way that values spectacle over substance

b) A widespread belief of good omen and fate associated with good outlooks

c) Women are subjugated on the basis of their roles confined to pleasing men

d) Unrealistic beauty standards continue evolving with revolutionized technology

e) The narrative of perfection sets the stage for conspicuous materialism

f) Fair complexion and pre-defined physical features are considered as hallmark of intelligence

4) Implications of ubiquitous practice of valuing appearance over talent:

a) Degradation of spirit and mettle

b) Triggering fear of missing out and growing depression

c) conceals over ethical dilemmas in attempt to attain body perfection

d) Intellectual dumbing down of societies with no contribution in scientific discoveries

e) Exacerbating misogyny against women and their subsequent marginalization

5) Adopting a balanced approach to ensure convergence of inner strength and outer appearance to navigate complexities of life plz make more diversified statements

6) Conclusion

In both Eastern and western cultures, the perception of beauty and ~~colored~~ physical attributes holds dominance. It not only determines one's worth but also determine a fate of an individual in social hierarchies. One can witness changing patterns in behaviors of society ^{individuals carrying} with the [↑] sophisticated outlooks. Therefore, it becomes a common notion that first impression is the last impression in this society. There are many philosophical or theoretical perspectives on the ^{outer} appearance like philosophy of simulation and simulacra and the Sigmund Freud theory of women's role in society due to her appearance. This impression of 'Face is fate' has several contributing factors that has altogether propelled the notion like society is evolved in a way naturally that values spectacle over substance. Moreover, a belief of good omen and fate and intelligence associated with beautiful physical features. The implications of such belief are far reaching, leading to anxiety, depression and degradation of spirit. Similarly, intellectual dumbing down of societies and exacerbating hate and prejudice against women for their pleasing role are stemmed from perception of beauty standardization. However, with striking a perfect balance between the inner and outer beauty, the true virtue and character could be attained.

ce

Essay : Interventions have caused more harm than good to human philanthropy" ① Introduction.

② What does the statement signify?

a) Humans self made laws after contradicts the nature, causing harm to others

b) Advancements have unintended consequences that prove detrimental to individual and social well being

c) Human interventions pose damage to moral and ethical norms

③ Philosophical perspectives on human interventions

a) Stoicism advocates for patience, perseverance and endurance and opposes human interventions on grounds of misconduct

b) Bentham's theory of utilitarianism emphasize that end goal of human life is satisfaction often gained by interventions into others life

c) Kant's philosophy of deontology entails that moral and ethical obligation is superior than end goal of success achieving ④ Interventions that have caused more harm than good:

a) Allan Turing - breaking of enigma code in WWII and subsequent AI advancements

b) Alfred Nobel invention of dynamite revolutionized warfare industry

c) Social media as tools of connections became a pillar of propaganda and misinformation

⑤ Revolutions across the history that has caused more harm than good:

a) Agricultural revolution set the stage for land disputes and property ownership

b) Industrial revolution paved a way for unprecedented global warming

c) Technological revolution became a great neck problem of 21st century - raising ethical concerns

d)

⑥ Ideologies causing more harm than good:

a) Capitalism - exploitation of poor

b) Communism - freedom comprised

c) Democracy without justice became tyranny

d) Globalization - culture of consumerism & materialism

e) Concept of Eurocentrism and colonialism

⑦

Societies that have invented laws undermining human philanthropy;

- a) Discriminatory policies against minorities
- citizenship Amendment Act (2019) India
- b) Suppression of dissent through law enforcement agencies
- RAB force in Bangladesh
- c) Infringement of fundamental rights
- restricting/banning right to assembly, movement and association
- digital rights curtailed

⑧

Conclusion

