women, about their rights and freedoms.

Living in a patriarchal society and having limited access to information, women, especially of remote areas, dont even know what their dundamental and legal rights are. Likewise's with years of exposure to overpowered patriarchal society, ills like domestic voilence and denies to the right of education are justified by women themselves. The principle of "obedient wife is good wife" is used to justify domestic voilence. Thus, this lack of information and awarness to perpetuate gender inequality and reassance women empowerment at the gran root level.

women empowerment despite of having extensive legal frameworks to support it is the point of concern. With the existing patriarched mindset and lack of awaveness of the among women about their legal rights: the realization of women empowerment is a utopic dream. Thus, strong governance combined with increased awareness programs aiming to premote women empowerment are the need of the time.
