

Date 19/07/2025

"Reforestation as a Global Urgency" (2025)

"Introduction"

After the second world war, the industrial trend has been increased because the countries try to boost its economy. Furthermore, industries are based on fossil fuels due to which several problems are created like increasing temperature, melting glaciers, and rising sea level as well.

In addition to this, carbon emission, unseasonal rains, biodiversity crisis, to maintain eco-system, and increasing wildfire incidents across the globe.

In order to prevent from all issues the reforestation is a global urgency. Additionally, these issues can be solved easily by implementing global commitments and actions, social and economic benefits of reforestation. Furthermore, boosting sustainable ecotourism, education, and cultural values. This essay will highlight why the reforestation is a global urgency and challenges in reforestation process and along with a way forward to tackle the issue of reforestation as a global urgency.

"Conclusion"

In view of the above arguments, this essay highlighted due to industrial conflict several problems were created like increasing temperature, melting glaciers, and rising sea level. In addition to this, carbon emission,

Increasing unseasonal rains, and biodiversity crisis are man. Furthermore, maintaining ecosystem services, and increasing wildlife incidents across the globe. However, these issues can be solved easily by implementing global commitments, social and economic benefits, boosting sustainable ecotourism, education and cultural values; ~~and~~ This ~~is~~ issue can be solved easily by implementing above-mentioned solutions.