

Jack greeted Swarup and critically says that Come out man, close your old books and let's have a game of tennis. Meanwhile, Swarup politely refused and cited that examination is very near, he want to get each and every hour for study. Jack critically argue that forget all examinations as he also do not worry and asks Swarup, after all what is the use of them, tell me. Swarup sincerely reply that he want to be a graduate and if you do not pass the examination, you cannot get a degree. In response, Jack argues that after ~~and~~ graduation you may get clerkship job, but in reality there are hundreds of students who got their degree and not getting job of any type. Swarup intellectually replies, Jack ~~is~~ might be right but he is not studying to just pass the examination and ~~get~~ obtain degree but to get knowledge and develop intellectual expertise.
