The Concept of Nationalism

Nationalism has different concept as it protects the rights from outside aggression. It connects people with unity, help them to achieve common objectives. It also defines a person's spiritual attachment to his own country which is frequently addressed as "Motherland" or "Fatherland". National interests help in the growth and promotion of nationalism. National feelings are the most important which exhibits the pride of possession of a common land. Geographical unity helps in multidimensional societal challenges, which open a mixed areas of cooperation among people. Those who live together for long can construct ways to live, work and share common goods and ideas.
