

Precis Writing

Superstitions are wide spread and often amusing. However, a scientist would require evidence and proof before believing such superstitious beliefs. Mere anecdotes are insufficient and he requires numerous affirmative results & repeating facts, logical explanations. Since, superstitions fail both facts and logical reasonings, they may impress on ignorant man but cannot stand the court of law.

Title: Superstitious beliefs and facts.

Word counts

Original passage: 287 words

Precis: 55 words.