The Roll of Education:

Fostering Moral Intelligence

Human Intelligence which involves empathy and affection is the only protection for contemporary man. This is both a challenge and requirement but increase the chances of survival. This challenge should be taken by educators in educational institutions. Religion was responsible for social morality. It failed due to the influence of power and wealth. It is, therefore, the responsibility of education sector to morality train the people in a way which infuses ideals of social morality, human love, personal integrity and human understanding.
