6 Conclusion:

No doubt media has highlighted the Israeli Palestine conflict at international level but its shallowness has failed to spread awareness and to prevail peace in the region.

The modern media fed by false news, political interest and algorithms has created a dichotomy between reel and real world. In the globalized world of print, electronic and social media, war is not the biggest threat to humanity but the normalisation of hate through these platforms. The same is the case with Israel and Palestine. The zionist's hate against arabs in Palestine has pursued the war in the region. This is now a decade long issue that has become the genocide against poor civilians in Palestine and a total act of agression by Israel's. Media, that claims to spread a news like fire in forest must highlight this issue at national and international forum via news and documentaries to capture the attention of world and international institutes for the sake of peace.
