My Favourite Subject

Criminology is my favourite subject so far. In it, we study about the nature, extent, cause and control of a crime. It has been an optional subject in CSS exams since 2016. It's a social science subject which vary from situation to situation and even country to country. It has been my favorite subject due to its inter-disciplinary characteristics. It includes psychology, forensic science and political science which added more interesting facts in this subject. For example, DNA and postmortem supports both victim and killer in best possible way which is the beauty of this subject. I used to see crime investigation ~~bureau~~^{bureau} series in my childhood which inculcates such elements in me that made this subject interesting for me. I also suggest you to read a book of it to know how thrilling this subject is. So, criminology is my dearest subject since long.
