

English Comprehension Test-2 Date:

Ans.1: The author has lamented the lack of beauty or interest in doing any work. He has also lamented that we are taught neither how to love our work nor what to be in love with. If work lacks beauty, it creates unsatisfied spiritual desire in the worker; that wastes life and it is common evil, as work is virtue.

Ans.2: The difference between an ordinary man and an artist is that, the ordinary man do work with much efforts; however, the work comes naturally to an artist because he do his work by heart. Another difference lies in the recognition of the aesthetic spirit, the former posses it whereas the later lacks it. Furthermore, an ordinary man does not value and appreciate others' work as he is blind to beauty; on the other hand, an ~~exel~~ artist values and discovers beauty everywhere and he add that beauty into his own work making it aesthetically beautiful.

Ans.3: We can make our lives beautiful and charming by valuing and recognizing beauty around us. The beauty is in the eyes of beholder, thus by observing aesthetic beauty in every object of universe, we can satisfy our souls spiritually too.

Ans.4: When the writer says, "beauty is not an ornament to life", he actually means beauty is an essential part of men and things he produce, not just mere pleasure or extra activity. It is an essential aesthetic activity revealed in the works made by men, just as it is present in all natural things.

Ans. 5: Yes, art and beauty both affect our practical life, as art is something to be mastered. Hence, it is needed for our practical and professional life. By doing work continuously and consciously one can become an artist, scientist, saint or anything else. Additionally, mastery over any work requires interest to see beauty in doing any work.

Doing any work perfectly and beautifully makes our morals high.
