

Importance of Friendship

In the darkest moments of life, a friend is the only one who plays the part of light. Friendship is not about ~~to just~~ spending time together, hangout and eating together, it's much more than that. A man who loses his wealth, fame and is going through a tough situation in his life and when everyone ~~left~~ leaves him because he don't have enough money left, still his friend stand with him, listen to him, help him and try his best to make his friend happy. Even, when one going through depression or anxiety phase, his friends try to bring some peace for him. When one loses his confidence after listening so many taunts from his family, relatives and colleagues, his friend put an efforts to rebuild his confidence. Friends play a vital role in each other life. ~~and~~ A good friend can make you a king and helps you to build an empire. While the bad one will destroy you. In a good phase of life, one can find a crowd or in a bad phase one can recognize his friend.
