

Corruption in Pakistan

Many of the communities, kingdoms and eventually the nation states have been the ~~victim~~ of unscrupulous leaders and officials. History tells ~~one~~ of the negative consequences of corrupt officials and their actions. Unfortunately, Pakistan is no foreigner to this predicament. The ~~father~~ of Pakistan, Quaid-e-Azam, only ~~could~~ guide the citizens the ~~two~~ years. Pakistan got its first constitution after 4 years of its inception. The political vacuum created gave leaders to ~~take~~ to commit arbitrary actions for personal gains, which set a sorry tradition. Moreover, the judiciary known as the guardian of the constitution also took steps on basis of friendship as in the Maulvi Tameez Uddin vs Governor General case rather than putting the Constitutional Assembly which had the responsibility of framing the first constitution. Military intervention and martial law held the constitution of 1973 in abeyance. Politicians focused on short term goals to win elections and not long term goals for the betterment of their country. Pakistan lacked solid leadership after Quaid-e-Azam and many people in been the victim of ~~unscrupulous~~ ^{history is a witness to} leaders and ~~officials~~. History tells one of the negative consequences of corrupt officials and their actions. Unfortunately, Pakistan is no ~~foreigner~~ to this predicament. The ~~freedom~~ of Pakistan, Quaid-e-Azam, only ~~could~~ guide the citizens for two years. Pakistan got its first constitution after 4 years of its inception. The political vacuum created gave leaders to take arbitrary actions for personal gains, which set a sorry tradition. Moreover, the judiciary known as the guardian of the constitution also took steps on basis of friendship as in the ~~Maulvi Tameez Uddin vs Government~~ case rather than protecting the ~~Constitutional Assembly~~ which had the responsibility of framing the first constitution. Military intervention and martial law held the constitution of 1973 in abeyance. Politicians focused on short-term goals to win elections and not long-term goals for the betterment of their country. Pakistan lacked solid leadership after Quaid-e-Azam and many people in connectivity and overall sentences structure is fine good plz keep it up

1

Maxim.....
CamScanner
CamScanner