

I have only 16 days left for the preparation of papers, and I should make the best use of it. I have three papers in total, beginning from April, 4 2025. However, a considerable syllabus of two subjects still remains. If a proper strategy for the preparation is not prepared, I fear losing first position this time. One of the best plannings is that I should give 6 days in total for the preparation of Current Affairs, starting from May 15, 2025, to May 21, 2025. I will thoroughly cover up the remaining syllabus of this subject. Once I am done with this subject, I will begin Pakistan Affairs. We have 10 organizations to cover within the remaining next 10 days. So by completing one organization per day, I will be able to cover the syllabus of Pakistan Affairs as well. Since the first paper is of GSA according to the notification released by National Officers Academy, I must begin its <sup>the</sup> revision from April 1st, 2025 and cover it upto April 3rd, 2025. On April 4th, 2025, we have GSA's paper. A gap of three days will be given after each paper which I can utilize for the preparation of my upcoming papers. This implies that I will be having 3 days for the revision of my next paper, and it is more than enough. Thus, the remaining time can be strategically used for the preparation of papers.
