

Reading Comprehension - CSS 20

(1)

Most of us fail in our efforts for self-improvement because the goals we have set for ourselves are overambitious. While setting goals, we don't remain realistic, and our goals become difficult to attain. For carrying out and executing the goals, we end up having no time to perform them.

(2)

It is a basic mistake to announce our resolution to everybody because most of the time we overlook that resolution. After ignoring the resolutions, we announced proudly, we appear more humorous and foolish to people. Thus, reverting back to old habits after announcing the accomplishments make one ~~more a~~ more silly.

(3)

Writer had set two resolutions for himself: exercise in the morning and reading in the evening. However, on the New Year Day, he went to a party. The party continued over the night, providing him a reason to abandon his goals for one day.
