

Sample Text

Teaching is the noblest of professions. A teacher has a scared duty to perform. It is he on whom rests the responsibility of moulding the character of young children. Apart from developing their intellect, he can inculcate in them qualities of good citizenship, remaining neat and clean, talking decently and sitting properly. These virtues are not easy to be imbibed. Only he who himself leads a life of simplicity, purity and rigid discipline can successfully cultivate these habits in his pupils. Besides a teacher always remain young. He may grow old in age, but not in spite. Perpetual contact with budding youths keeps him happy and cheerful. There are moments when domestic worries weigh heavily on his mind, but the delightful company of innocent children makes him overcome his transient moods of despair. (133 words)

Teaching is the Most Virtuous Profession

Teaching is the most virtuous profession. A teacher has the divine responsibility to perform. He has not only to develop their intellect rather shape-up their character too. Moreover, inculcating these virtues into pupils are not easy but when he himself practicing virtuous life. Besides a teacher remains young and happy with enjoying delight full company of innocent pupils.