

+ Timely access to medical treatment has long been a challenge in most parts of the country, particularly for women in our community. The commencement of Telemedicine has now provided an opportunity to consult doctors from home. Women, due to geographical & cultural barriers couldn't avail the access to medical treatment, but telemedicine has now addressed this issue. Now, they can book an appointment in their home, and consult a doctor through phone, maintaining their cultural & religion duties. Resultantly, Telemedicine service has empowered our women and giving confidence to them to prioritise their health. This service brings effectiveness in underserved community.