

Date: _____

ESSAY

Day: _____

"Nuclear Weapons Are Not Only a Great Peril, But Also a Great Hope"

Outline

①

Introduction:

- Hook sentence
- General Statement
- Thesis Statement: Nuclear weapons represent a profound paradox, while they pose an existential threat to humanity due to their potential for mass destruction, they also serve as a powerful tool for strategic deterrence, geopolitical balance and the prevention of large scale wars.

②

What are the Great Perils of Nuclear Weapons:

(2.1) Capability of Catastrophic Destruction

(Example of Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombing resulting in 200,000 deaths)

(2.2) Risk of Nuclear Proliferation

(Mohamed Elbaradei: The continuous reliance on nuclear weapons by a few countries is an incentive for others to acquire them)

Date: _____

Day: _____

(2.3) Risk of Political Miscalculation (Pakistan-India standoff and the risk of nuclear war)

(2.4) Dangers of Nuclear Accidents
(Chernobyl Disaster in 1986)

③ The Great Hope of Nuclear Deterrence and Strategic Stability:

(3.1) Provision of Strategic Deterrence

(Theory of Mutually Assured Destruction)

(3.2) Prevention of Direct Conflicts (Stability-Instability Paradox: nuclear weapons deter full scale war but may allow limited conflict)

(3.3) Maintenance of Geopolitical Balance

(The nuclear balance between India and Pakistan contribute to regional stability)

(3.4) Reduction in Proliferation Incentive through Nuclear Umbrella

(France's consideration to extend its nuclear deterrent to other European nations)

Date: _____

Day: _____

(3.5) Catalyst for Diplomacy

(India-Pakistan both relied on backchannel and third-party diplomacy to avoid escalation)

④ The Moral and Strategic Critique of Nuclear Weapons:

(4.1) Nuclear Weapons create a false sense of security and increase global tension

(a) Historical patterns show nuclear deterrence has maintained peace among great powers, e.g., Cold War stability

Your points are valid

(4.2) Disarmament is the only moral path forward

(a) Unequal disarmament could increase instability, e.g., Ukraine joining up nuclear weapons in 1990 and the 2014 Crimea Crisis

Focus on your sentence structure

Be very careful using the word

⑤ Conclusion:

Conclusion is fine

Date: _____

Day: _____

On August 6, 1945, the world witnessed a new kind of destruction that was instantaneous, absolute and irreversible. The same weapon that can obliterate an entire city in a matter of seconds is also credited with maintaining global stability by preventing large scale war.

The possession of nuclear weapons by the United States and USSR during the Cold War era is a prime example of the strategic deterrence, who engaged in proxy wars rather than full on confrontation. The nuclear age has reshaped the international relations, military strategy and global security doctrine. This essay will explore the duality of nuclear weapons and analyze how nuclear arms endanger while simultaneously stabilize the world. Nuclear weapons since their inception represent a profound paradox, while they pose an existential threat to humanity due to their potential for mass destruction, they also serve as a powerful tool for strategic deterrence, geopolitical balance and the prevention of large scale war.

---

Conclusion :

Since their creation, nuclear weapons have stood as both instrument of mass destruction while on the other hand, they have been used as a tool for geopolitical balance, shaping international relations and global security. While the dangers they pose cannot be denied yet their role in maintaining strategic stability cannot be ignored.

Thus, the challenge that lies ahead is reducing reliance on them. The world must strive for a future where security is not dependent on the threat of annihilation, but on mutual understanding & diplomacy.