The Essay.

Nelson Mandela a revolutionary leader once said "A country ~~its~~ should never lose its best minds. To develop, it must keep its talent, not export it. Brain drain is the shift of capable minds from one state where there is no appreciation or acknowledgement due to various constraints including poor economic conditions, no promising future, poor recognition, no standards of living, and no job security etc. All these outcomes in a country. Though the problems already deteriorating system but the ~~already existing~~ existing consequences contribute further to intensifying and resuscitating them in the form of new challenge. The worst repercussions that country has to bear in return in the form of no prosperous economic growth, Unstable figures of economy, Incapable minds for future planning and lack of bright minds for country on International forums etc. This amalgam of causes and consequences have adverse affect on the growth and prosperity of the country in domestic and international endeavours.
