

+ Timely access to medical treatment has long been a challenge in most parts of the country, particularly for women in our community. The commencement of Telemedicine has now provided an opportunity to consult doctors from home. Women, due to geographical & cultural barriers couldn't avail the access to medical treatment, but ~~they~~ <sup>they</sup> ~~themselves~~ has now addressed this issue. Now, they can book an appointment in their home, and consult a doctor through phone, ~~maintaining~~ <sup>try to write more formal words please</sup> their cultural & religious duties. Resultantly, Telemedicine service has empowered our women and giving ~~confidence~~ <sup>confidence</sup> to them to prioritise their health. This service ~~is~~ <sup>undeserved</sup> ~~communitiy~~ <sup>communitiy</sup>.
