The Muslim society had degenerated when Mujaddid Alf Sani appeared on the horizon. A number of Hindu customs and practices had become part of their creed. The commandments of Shariah and Sunnah were being flouted. Moreover, the Mughal emperor Akbar had adopted controversial policies in Islamic history. He introduced Din-e-Ilahi in 1581, emphasising monotheism tinged by pantheism, adoration of sun, fire and artificial lights. Muslims were practising many un-Islamic practices such as a widespread in different Add subheadings was a mat and miracles of saints, ulama

The doctrine of Wahdat-ul-wajood was highly misleading and opposite to the teaching of Islam.

"For about a century Islam is so oppressed that the infidels are not satisfied with the mere promulgation of the practices of Kufr but they even want Islamic norms and practices to be totally abolished, and Islam and Muslim completely rooted out. The situation is so serious that if any Muslim follows the path of Islam, he is assassinated (Sheikh Ahmad Sirhindi)" a number of Muslim reformers gave rise to the concept of joint nationalism - in order to popularise Islam. This trend proved injurious to the separate and distinct national image of the Muslims. Consequently, Shaikh Ahmad put end to the concept; he laboured to keep the national and religious identity of the Muslim intact. He was a staunch advocate of Muslim separatism and adopted stern attitude towards the Hindus. He with help of orthodox Jahangir, re-imposed Jizya on Hindus. Thus, Shaikh Ahmad was first torch bearer of Islam, who inspired other reformers, such as Shah Waliullah, Syed Ahmed Shahdeo, working towards a valued goal of the Two Nation Theory.

Shaukh Ahmed Sirhind was not only a great religious scholar but also a social reformer. He contributed to the protection of Muslim society from the looming perils of religious amalgamation. He prohibited the concept of inter-religious marriages that was foundation of all social evil. With his spiritual power the conditions of Muslim society soon became better. The Muslim persuaded-previously inhibited-Islamic rituals and adopted simple habits in light of Islam and Sunnah. As a result, the supremacy of Islam was restored in subcontinent.

Critical Analysis:

AKhar's un-Islamic activities led the Muslims toward destruction. His policy of Pin-e-Hak and philosophy of Adalat-ur-Rajood welcomed anti-Islamic ideologies. At the hour of turmoil, Mujadid Alf Sani

Indeed, his initiative of supremacy of Islam was so rational and true that later it was continued by his sons and other emperors like Jahangir, Shah Jahan etc.

Conclusion:

In short, Sheikh Ahmad restored Shariah and lost the glory of Islam. He purified the socio-political-religion sphere of the communities of India in the time of Akbar.

He himself bore all difficulties during the reign of Akbar, but he never prostrated before him.

He was first who could be called a propounder of Muslim Ummah.

Dr Abdul Haq Khan explains Mujadid's following words:

"Mujadid Alf Sani never wanted to topple government and always tried to teach the rulers and masses about the message of virtue and goodness"
