

Manto's writing : Exposing Realities Instead of vulgosity

Manto was Caught in Complexities of human behaviour. Critics called his writing as vulgar, but he remained committed to expose the self-biased stark realities of people. In the line of Freud, he raised voice for marginalized communities and explored the mysteries of sex in society. He highlighted the most vital socio-moral issue to the readers. He was conscious of having double standards and hypocrisy in human behaviour. In his literary writing, he was far from vulgosity like other artists of that time : Lawrence, Joyce, and Caldwell.

Need to Utilize Energy in the Right Path

The real problem in the world is not about the persons who are lazy but those who are misdirected. Even Devil is busier than people but in the bad things. The writer argues that the world is struggling not because of laziness of the people but they lack the virtues of Sympathy and are misdirected. The writer gave example that even in 1914, when the Capital idling elite's doctrine of Strenuous life went unchallenged, then they realized to do something. Suppose our Statesman, instead of signing Treaty of Versailles, simply had gone there and done nothing; affairs of the world would remained ^{un}resolved, then we have achieved nothing. Even if half of the Statesman of today's Europe active themselves to protect Civilizations, we would surely achieved the target. Irony is that even clerics hold conferences, when the Societies are struggling and their fate is in doubt, clerics are denouncing apparent visuals of Societies rather than real issues. The ~~would have to~~ ~~rest~~ have to rest for a while and recover their Consciousness.
