In contrast to the flattering and submissive and attitude towards the colonialist English values, which the British rulers had promoted and which the people had also adopted during this era Sir Syed Ahmed Khan and their esteemed and a bright intellect son Syed Mahmood both tried to adopt such an attitude as if they were equal and of the same status as the English people. The incident of Agra in 1867 well-known to the Muslims and as well but to the entire Indian Nation. Sir Syed Ahmed Khan choose to dissociate himself from that court as the Indians were seated in positions of lesser status than the English people. In this court, Sir Syed Ahmed Khan was to be awarded a Medal. Later, the Commissioner of Meeruth: Williams was delegated with this duty to go to Aligarh Railway Station and present the Medal to Sir Syed Ahmed Khan.

Lahore is not a political center but, also an ancient hub of culture. The culture of the Mughals witnessed its peak in this city. Its also the hub of Sikh culture. This city was also blessed with the culture of knowledge and literature. This was also the center of great Sufism. The author "Hazrat Ali Hajwari" of the famous book "Kashaf-ul-Mahjub" was also buried in this city. The fashion of Lahore was also customary in the era of English people. Even after the creation of Pakistan, the importance of this city did not diminish.

Pakistan is determined for peace in Afghanistan, because peace in Afghanistan is extremely important for Pakistan. According to historical background Pakistan and Afghanistan are neighbours and Muslim countries are being joined by historical, cultural and linguistic relations. These relations are unbreakable, both depend on each other and also both can't exist apart. Pakistan's stance from the very beginning has been that a solution to the Afghan issue should be found. China also supports this stance. China also ensure that the solution of the Afghan conflict is only possible through peace talks held in Afghanistan. Pakistan and China play their role in resolving the Afghan conflict through negotiations under this strategic partnership.
