

Essay (Mock)

3/5

Forced Marriages in Pakistan: Causes & Consequences.

Outlines:

1. ~~Introduction:~~

2. Causes of forced marriages in Pakistan.

2.1 - Poverty pushes Parents to marry daughters early to reduce financial burden.

2.2 - Lack of education makes People unaware of legal and human rights.

2.3 - Many families force marriage to maintain family honor and social respect.

2.4 - Parents often arrange marriages to control their children's life decisions.

2.5 - Some Parents believe marriage protects girls from social evils.

2.6 - Cultural traditions value family decisions over individual choice.

2.7 - Weak law enforcement allows forced marriages to continue.

2.8 - Patriarchal mindset gives men power to decide women's fate.

2.9- Fear of love marriages makes Parents impose forced marriages.

2.10- Property disputes are often solved by marrying within family or tribe.

2.11- Religious misinterpretation is used to justify forced marriages.

2.12- Some families marry girls to get dowry.

2.13- Pressure from community elders forces families to agree to early marriages.

2.14- Lack of awareness about marriage laws causes misuse of customs.

2.15- Illiteracy creates blind faith in outdated traditions.

2.16- Lack of government action increases the rate of forced marriages.

2.17- Tribal systems promote forced marriages for revenge and peace deals.

2.18- Parents fear social criticism if their daughter remains unmarried.

3. Consequences of forced marriages in Pakistan.

3.1- Many women suffer from domestic violence and abuse.

3.2- Victims lose their right to choose their life partner.

3.3- Emotional trauma becomes lifelong struggles.

3.4- Girls lose educational and career opportunities.

3.5- Marital life becomes full of fear and unhappiness.

3.6- Many forced marriages ~~fail~~ end in divorce and separation.

3.7- Children born in such homes face emotional neglect.

3.8- Forced marriages increase gender inequality in society.

3.9- Victims often attempt suicide due to hopelessness.

3.10- Family ~~ties~~ relations become bitter due to lack of mutual consent.

3.11- It damages the reputation of Pakistan internationally.

3.12- Economic productivity decreases when women are uneducated and

3.13- Forced marriages often lead to honor killings in extreme cases.

3.14- Lack of peace in family life affects children's upbringing.

3.15- Health issues arise due to early pregnancy.

3.16- It creates mistrust between youth and parents.

3.17- It violates Islamic principles of free consent in marriage.

3.20- Social progress becomes slow due to old customs.

4. conclusion.