

~~Paper~~ 2023 ~~here!~~

These are three school of thoughts regarding freedom in education. Some want children to be given freedom, irrespective of outcome; others want total control, regardless of virtue; while a larger segment argue for freedom but in exchange for being virtuous. The Rousseauism concept of liberty ensuring perfection is vague as freedom does not guarantee virtue. They argue that the only purpose of education is to offer spontaneous growth; however, they remain ignorant of the empathetic and empirical aspect of education. Education must not be viewed only as an opportunity for growth but also as a moral and ethical guide of children.
