A famous scholar gave an ideal but realistic concept of nationalism: its origin vanishes in myth but it grows in man's consciousness. History, caste and region, he indicates, play their roles in the birth of nations. Thus, it acts against the idea of humanism due to its rigidity and ~~exclusionary~~ exclusiveness. This idea restrains man from understanding other concepts like universalism and ~~human~~ humanism. Philosophers, in their infamous works, emphasize the significance of balanced approach between nationalism and universalism. Someone presents it as threat for justice and equality, other considers it shared humanity. It, sometimes, leads to xenophobia.

However, ~~pro~~ pros and cons of ~~humanis~~ nationalism exist. Though the concept of socialism is emerging, the thirst for power continues causing bloodshed and massacre. Even democracy has failed itself. Our national poet called it a cover for imperialism. His idea, too much love for a country leads toward dictatorship, has become true. The real essence of nationalism is to achieve economic equality through democracy. However, weaker states
