

Essay:- Rich in Politician, we desperately need statesmen.

Thesis Statement:- A visionary leader plays an important role in national development. Our country need a selfless leader in the political, social and economic sphere, but politicians work for their own purpose. Although a good leader faces various hurdles in maintaining good governance. Therefore, certain measures are required to create space for statesmen.

Outline:-

I. Introduction

II. Understanding the concept of statesmen and politician - an overview.

III. We are rich in politician, but we need statesmen.

A. Statesmen are needed to strengthen accountability across the board, as politicians often work for their personal interest.

B. Statesmen are required to keep up the promises for national growth, not the idealistic promises made by politicians for votes.

C. True leaders can give the opportunity for youth participation in politics, while politicians focus on dynastic politics for their own benefits.

D. Statesmen can provide quality education to the nation, but politicians neglect education for their vested interest.

E. Statesmen are mandatory to promote national unity, while politicians often work for ethnic and sectarianism.

well organized and quite relevant

F. Visionary leaders are required to introduce welfare policies for poor people, as politicians do not serve people effectively.

G. Wise leaders can make early plans for disaster management situations, while politicians often fail to act in advance.

H. Statesmen are necessary to resolve conflicts at national and international level, while politicians offer only temporary solutions.

IV. Some hurdles faced by statesmen to maintain good governance.

A. Pressure of opposition parties destroys public trust.

B. Corruption hinders the well-organized performance of institutions.

V. Some suggested measures to create space for statesmen

A. Leadership promotes awareness about political system through social media.

B. Statesmen have to focus on meritocracy.

C. Statesmen must ensure transparency in policymaking.

VI. Conclusion

Introduction:- In times when people need real guidance, leaders stand out with clear vision, calm thinking, and strong decisions. Their leadership is not just about power, but about giving hope, direction, and giving hope, direction, and confidence to others. They in due people to believe that positive change is possible and that a better future can only be built together. Therefore, we have many politicians, but need statesmen. A statesmen make strengthen accountability and national growth, because most of the politicians work for their personal interests.

Moreover, a good leader prioritize professional education, which helps youth participation in politics, but politicians neglect education. Statesmen promote national unity and also reduce welfare policies for poor people, whereas politician do not serve people effectively. In the same time, a visionary leader can make early plans in disaster management and resolve conflict's issue, as politician fail to address these challenges. In contrast, a visionary leader faces various hurdles in maintaining good governance, as they lost public trust and corruption affects well-organized performance due to pressure from opposition parties. To solve these issues, leaders have to promote awareness programs, and focus on meritocracy. Furthermore, they also ensuring transparency in policy making. In fact, a visionary leader plays an important role in national advancements. Our country need a selfless leader in the political, social, and economic sphere, but politicians work for their own purpose. Although a good governance leader faces various hurdles in maintaining good governance. Therefore, certain measures are required to create space for statesmen.

plz do not write in pronoun form

avoid writing in confused expression please