
Candidate Sign

Invigilator Sign

Why does love sometimes destroy more than it heals?

Outline:

A. Introduction

B. Love Destroys more than It
Heals

1. It creates emotional dependancy leading to psychological disruptions in mind, if ever felt unloved.
2. Love sometimes results into trauma bonding which ~~result~~ inhibits personal growth.
3. Love demands validation which sometimes leads to insecurity in relationship
4. Insecure relationships enhance the capabilities of a person to act narcissistically.

5. Love sometimes makes a person enquire himself about his very strengths if he is suffering from incompatible relationship.

6. Love can harm personality by introducing negative traits, if he or she is emotionally immature.

7. Love sometimes trains mind to get relief from stress of relationships' sight which destroys person's peace of mind forever.

8. Love sometimes induces toxicity in relationship due to very minute misunderstandings.

9. Modern technology has reshaped love in a way that its healing traits are diluting.

10. Lovers craves attention which in itself makes a person to enhance overthinking.

Love Does Heals

1) Love brings peace of mind

when the feeling of being valued establishes.

2) Love induces sense of care for partner which results into kindness and empathy.

D. Conclusion