→ The busiest creature in this universe is devil, who is responsible for all the evils in this world. Chaos in this world is due to the lack of people with kindness and calmness and ~~less~~ lazy people. World still have plenty of energy but misdirected, for instance; the July of 1914, Emperors, Kings, Arch dukes, statesman, generals, journalists, all of them showed up sudden desire to do nothing but hangout in ~~the~~ sunshine and smoke considering it as capital idling period. Let's say if our statesman had taken a week or two off—before rushing towards Versailles, on hillside rather than engaging in interviews then they might have been returned with better outcomes of world affairs. Even now if half of the European politicians let pass the laziness as crime and then take some off time, we will gain from it rather than losing. Occasionally, there are some religious sects holding such events for people to take some time off but devil comes along, keeping those members busy condemning the short skirts of ladies and volume of dance bands, so it would be much better for such people to lay back in sunshine and recover their mental health.
