The Essay

"Indeed, with hardships come ease," the Holy Quran says. Allah Almighty directs us to be patient and resilient against all the odds of life. Similarly, the above statement is the manifestation of Islamic teachings that peace and spring will emerge despite the atrocities and devastation. There will be darkness and despair, but ^{one} should not lose hope. A day will come when there will be light, ease and development. A flower rises in mountains with all its elegance during spring season after long harsh winters. The life stories and struggles of individuals from political, religious, scientific, business, literary and sports world prove the veracity of the above statement. Moreover, progress on a global ^{level} is evident of the fact that you can cut all the flowers, but cannot keep keep spring from coming. History is full of such lessons and principles that should be followed to tackle the hardships of life.

First of all, the emergence of spring on an individual level in political arena shall be discussed. The world political history gives us numerous examples of personalities who became successful against all the challenges. For instance, Abraham Lincoln won the elections after seven defeats. He ~~led~~ the United States of America as the president during the American civil wars. He rose to become one of the greatest political figures in history. Nelson Mandela fought for the rights of blacks in South Africa. He spent 27 years in jail for his cause. He later, became the president and won the Nobel peace award. Quaid-e-Azam Muhammad Ali Jinnah, along with other leaders, won a separate state from the cruelties of British and Hindus. All these leaders thrived for their people and gave them a better future. They altered the course of history in spite of all the trials and tribulations.

Secondly, religious figures proved the veracity of above statement. The lives of prophets were full of atrocities. They were hopeful and resilient against all the difficulties. They fought bravely and came out victorious of all trials. The life of Hazrat Ayub (A.S) is a model of resilience against the odds. Hazrat Yousaf (A.S) was thrown into a well by his brothers. He was then fought as a slave. Then, he faced a jail ^{as well} and ultimately became the Chief Minister of Egypt. His policies thrived out his nation out of the great famine. Moreover, the life of the Holy Prophet (S.A.W) is a role model for us in every field of life. Prophet (S.A.W) and his companions transformed the Arabian Peninsula with their tireless efforts. They faced the cruelties of the idolators of Makkah. Holy Prophet (S.A.W) faced the oppressions inflicted by the people of ~~pe~~ Thaur city with great determination and devotion. All the oppressors in Arabia tried ~~the~~ best to stop Islam, but Islam emerged as victorious in a small span of time. These events testify that spring will come at all costs.

Thirdly, various individuals did not lose and became successful in scientific world. Majority of discoveries and inventions are ^{the} results of determination of scientists. Thomas Elva Edison lit our lives with the invention of a bulb. He was not allowed to study in a normal because of his abnormal behaviour. His mother helped him and taught him personally. He proved that ease comes after hardships. Nicola Tesla discovered the current and magnetic. Our whole life is dependant on appliances using these principles. Marie Curie won Nobel Prize in a male-dominant society. She was adamant against the societal norms. She discovered radioactivity and treatment for cancer. She, with her stern faith, stood fast and gave a new direction to the scientific world. All these scientists tried their best to give us a better future.

Fourthly, many individuals in business world defied the conventional techniques and emerge as industry giants. Several examples can be quoted to prove the truthness of the statement. Elon Musk became the richest man of the world with his unique ideas. He invented Tesla and SpaceX Companies. All of his greatness came after successive disasters. He did not lose hope and continued with his unconventional techniques. Jack Ma, the founder of Alibaba, became the richest man of China. Colonel founders, the founder of KFC, gave the world one of the greatest businesses of all world despite failures and old age. Ratan Tata worked on self-reliance and local production. His hardwork and dedication made India among the top exporters of automobiles. The works of these innovators proves that springs come after harsh winters.

Fifthly, literary world also witnessed the greatness of many figures inspite of many challenges and miseries. J.K. Rowling was an eminent novelist. Her writings were refused by many publishers. But she was adamant and pave her own way. Her novel series, the Harry Potter, became one of the best-selling books of all time. Similarly, Ehsan Danish was a pa daily-wager. He became one of the greatest progressive poets of subcontinent. According to him, he was taking an interview of a candidate in the same room of Punjab University where he once injured his eyes while painting. It shows the struggles of Ehsan Danish to acheive the greatness. Umera Ahmad, the writer of novels such as Peer-e-Kamil and Aab-e-Hayat, rose among the ranks modern literary figures in Pakistan. These works showed that anybody can success in life if he or she is hopeful, resilient and committed.

Lastly, the life stories of sportspersons reflect that nobody can keep spring from coming. The lives of athletes is full of hardships. They excell in their lives despite all financial and other constraints. An example of Pakistan Cricket Team can be given to prove the above statement.

Pakistan cricket team won the Champions Trophy in 2017 with dedication and teamwork. They rose to the title of the champions despite having last position in rankings just before the start of tournament. Babar Azam became the number one ODI batsman from a ball picker. Arshad Nadeem won the prestigious Gold medal in Paris Olympics. He trained on his own without any proper facilities. Sana Mir emerged as the greatest female cricketer in a male-dominated society. Sirbaz Khan summit all the fourteen Eight-thousanders in the world. He is the first Pakistani to achieve this feat. Muhammad Asif developed into the greatest player of snooker in Pakistan. All these sportspersons climbed to the heights of success and greatness with very little support from the governmental departments.

Now, the birth of spring on a global level will be discussed. Western countries faced the devastations of World Wars with great zeal and zest. Owing to their dedication, they became the leaders of world economic, political and social system. They are regarded as the champions of democracy and social welfare system. Their economic systems are flourishing. European and

North American economy is mostly based on exports. United Kingdom, France, Germany, Poland and Italy made a great progress and came out of the ruins of World War-II. Their nations are living examples of determination, hardwork and commitment.

Moreover, the Eastern Asian Nations also proved their worth. They emerged just like a phoenix which rises out of ashes. World War-2 destroyed Japan completely through the Little Boy and the Fat man in August, 1945. The atomic explosion wiped out everything on the surface in Japan in Hiroshima and Nagasaki. ~~These~~ The people of Japan were adamant and committed to face all these problems. Currently, Japan is among the top five economic powers of the world. Similarly, China also ~~at~~ rose to become the most technological advanced country in recent times. Pakistan, India and Bangladesh are also progressing under the commitment and dedication.

In a nutshell, it can be concluded that a spring cannot be kept from coming. The stories and struggles of individuals from political, religious, scientific, business, literary and sports arena prove the veracity of the fact that a flower will bloom regardless of hardships and miseries in life. World political, social and economic system witnessed the birth of spring from the ashes of darkness. It is evident from the above discussions that nobody can stop the way of ^{becoming} successful. A person can excel in life, regardless of the hardships, only if he or she is hardworking and passionate. Fortune also favours the beholder who faces the atrocities of life with bravery and stern faith.
