Precis:

The writer stated that evil ~~comes to~~ the world not by laziness of people but through misdirected activities. People who are always up and doing things without wisdom are the fellows of Devils. Devil is the best illustration of the phrase. "there is blessing in movement", who deliberately defame the laziness dilemma. People are apparently active in growth this world, but stagnant to growth. Everyone is ~~aimed~~ ⁱⁿ goes towards wrong direction. For instance, if statesmen or politicians of the country took time to pause, sit in quite place, spend their time in solitude, the world would be in better shape today. From time to time, certain religious sects hold conferences to talk about purpose-less discussions that does not suit the theme of the conference. They should rather just take rest, instead of spreading evil, and rehabilitate themselves.
