Why does love sometimes destroy more than it heals?

Outline:

A. Introduction

try to write more mature in your phrases

kindly try to compartmentalize your ideas diverse way

B. Love Destroys more than It
Heals

1. It creates emotional dependency leading to psychological disruptions in mind, if ever felt unloved.

2. Love sometimes results into trauma bonding which inhibits personal growth.

3. Love demands validation which sometimes leads to insecurity in relationship

4. Insecure relationships enhance the capabilities of a person to act narcissistically.

5. Love sometimes makes a person enquire himself about his very strengths if he is suffering from incompatible relationship.

6. Love can harm personality by introducing negative traits, if he or she is emotionally immature.

7. Love sometimes trains mind to get relief from stress of relationships' fight which destroys person's peace of mind forever.

8. Love sometimes induces toxicity in relationship due to very minute misunderstandings.

9. Modern technology has reshaped love in a way that its healing traits are diluting.

10. Lovers crave attention which in itself makes a person to enhance overthinking.

~~So Love Does Heals~~

1) Love brings peace of mind

when the feeling of being valued establishes.

2) Love induces sense of care for partner which results into kindfulness and empathy.
