

Youth instructing is like craving in stone

Outline:

1) Introduction

- Meaning of the proverb
- Introduction to Early education
- Thesis Statement; “Instructing the youth in earlier age shape their personality, provide track for a successful future, enhance their critical thinking, memory retention and permanent habits that stay throughout their life like a carve in stone.”

2) Youth instructing is like craving in stone.

- Shaping the personality and character of an individual.
- Way to a positive future.
- Ability to problem solving and decision making.
- Enhancing memory and retention.
- Reduction of social inequalities.
- Healthier relationship with others.
- Space for new learning.
- Highly sensitive to stimuli and new experiences.
- Development of permanent habits.
- The Lasting Impact of Youth Education on Politics and Society.

3) Role of parents, teachers and society.

- Importance of role model.
- Encouraging the creativity.
- Encouraging the new exploration.
- Providing quality education, fostering critical thinking.
- Role of culture values and tradition.
- Positive role of media and technology.

4) Challenges

- Limited access to quality education.
- Socioeconomic disparities
- Balancing the tradition and modern approach.
- Surveillance of Children, surrounded by digital world.

5) Recommendation

- Expand schools, improve infrastructure, and provide trained faculty.
- Provide scholarships, free textbooks, and financial support for low-income children.
- Integrate cultural values with modern subjects.
- Promote online safety education, and use of safe digital platforms.

6) Conclusion.