TITLE:

"Hope: A Ray To Happiness"

According to author, distress and foolishness are not unavoidable part of human life. Through wisdom and tolerance man can overcome his self-made adversaries. The author, is a strong believer of hope, despite the fact, that it does not bring the required outcomes always. But it is also unacceptable that troubles are fate of man. In recent era, societies are in depression due to their irrational decisions and even majority of them consider optimism as illogical. So, to keep hope alive, we have to utilize all the abilities of heart and mind because their absence caused distress. (100 words)
