

Title: Urban Green Spaces

Green spaces and parks are a place of relaxation in a hectic city life, while also providing a safe space for wildlife. Families and groups of people gather in parks to enjoy some leisure time and have different events in natural environment. Beyond relaxation and leisure, they provide better air-quality, reduce heat as well as improve mental and physical well-being. Although, in order to maintain increasing urban sprawl with natural green spaces, creative urban planning is essential for better human and environmental preservation.
