

The CSS aspirants usually give unequal importance to its eleven subjects. Every year toppers have got less marks in ^{mostly} one subject. For example, the 2023 topper got ~~40~~ marks in english essay. It usually happens that aspirants preparing ten subjects and leave one subject for the last days. Similarly, mostly majority have been failed in CSS by one subject only. Additionally, the FPSC shares annual report every year which include the reasons of failure in exams; but the mostly aspirants do not even bother the report, and keep doing preparation all time. They failed to realized their mistake and unable to adjust their time equally. Similarly, even toppers shared their strategy in internet about do's and don't's which they follow during their preparation, but still next year majority aspirants repeat the same mistake. Additionally, It may happens that they develop a fear in their minds by

CS
CamScanner

Date

Listening irrelevant people such as Precis and Essay are very difficult subjects, and they must give maximum time to these subjects. The unequal importance is not merely by mistake but it is a choice of ~~failur~~ aspirants which leads to Failure.