Title: Influence of Climate
on Labour

Climate affects the energy levels of workers and the consistency of their habits.

So people of warmer climates are more hardworking than those of colder ones. In cold climates, low temperature and light prevent ~~people from pursuing~~ outdoor work.

So, workers lose their momentum for hardwork, causing ~~the people to develop~~ the nation to develop an ~~more~~ inconsistent nature compared to people who live in warm countries. This is apparent when we compare Sweden and Norway to Spain and Portugal. Yet, all experience the same halt in agricultural work. One pair experiences dry weather and ~~unsu~~ unsuitable soil conditions.
