

Q: Discuss the significant features of "Treaty of Westphalia" and the development of modern nation state system.

Ans;

The Treaty of West Phellia came into being after 30 years of War became end.

There were many multiple factors of treaty of West Phellia but one of the important factor was religion — Church; at that time in Europe Roman Empire was main character and Catholic Church. Catholic Church was central authority dealing with political and religious activities no other religion was allowed to practice and followed. This become against Peace of Aussenberg (1555)

Date: _____

and Protestants called it violation of Peace of Austerlitz.
Aftermath, 30 years war erupted between Catholic and Protestants and end up with treaty of Westphalia.

.) Westphalian system features;

Before Westphalian system during the era of empires, there was no sovereignty, freedom, diplomacy etc.

Westphalian system introduced modern level nation system which comprises international law;

- ; Principle of Sovereignty
- ; Principle of Integrity
- ; Freedom
- ; Independence
- ; Recognition of other states
- ; Individual and social equality

Flowchart?

Don't write in points
Either paragraphs, or flowchart

International law is composed of three basic principles; Sovereignty, Legitimacy and duties.

Westphalian treaty revolts empires monarchy and rebuild "Peace of Augsburg"; Sovereignty / supremacy ^{power} not be in church authority and every individual is equal before law.

; Westphalian treaty based on two key principles:

; Internal Sovereignty,

Pre-eminence of rulers against claiming other central powers.

; External Sovereignty;

Independence from external central powers.

•) Evolution of Modern State-system;

; In history there were city and state systems but that were controlled by local rulers and lack of sovereignty and

Date:

Later on these states were captured by empires. After Westphalian treaty modern state system emerged;

→ Diplomacy, Accountability,
International relations

International security introduced,

It originated modern international law according to which states are working.

Conclusion

Profound analysis is required