

Make a précis of the following passage and suggest a suitable title.

Things change with the passage of time. There have been great many changes in the world. Most of thickly populated cities and towns that existed centuries ago are reduced to ruins and give a deserted look now. Cities and towns that were destroyed by natural calamities or razed to the ground by invaders long ago have again been populated thickly and become great trading centers and tourist places. Some of them afford beneath-taking senses are wonderful places ever seen on the earth. Small towns have been developed to the big cities and deserted places have become worth seeing places. This all happens because change is a constant course of life.

It is but natural that man is attracted by innovations, discoveries, inventions, new creations and change in his life. That is why he has created wonderful things for his ease and comfort. Wonderful, magnificent and sky-high buildings reflect his tendency to high life, luxurious living and glorious and glamorous station of life. Gone are the days when man used to light oil lamp and cooked food by burning forewood and coal. Means of transport, communication and routes of conveyance have drastically changed. Modern inventions have brought wonderful change in our life-style and made our mobility frequent and speedy, and living amazingly convenient. حکم اکوار سفر پر

Some drastic and violent changes were brought by cruel and wicked invaders who not only plundered wealth and precious things, but also put tens of thousands of innocent people to sword. Gengis Khan and Hulagu Khan of Mongol stock are the worst examples of tyranny, scourge, mass killing of Muslims and hostility and ill-will towards Islam. They laid cities, crops and bazaars waste and set libraries and properties of Muslims on fire and reduced magnificent buildings to debris and dust and burnt thousands of precious and rare books to ashes. Their invasions came as wrath of God to teach transgressors a lesson.

Baghdad and Delhi are two glaring examples of brutality and maltreatment to innocent people whom attackers caught unawares and put them to sword mercilessly. However, things change with the passage of time. Desolate and destructed places were populated again. Life returned to these places. Markets bustling with life remained open for longer hours and sold wonderful things. Places of entertainment, show business, cinemas and theaters attracted more audience, spectators and visitors and ever. Culture, civilizations, old traditions and life were revived to afford the people an opportunity to enjoy exuberance, beauties of nature, insight, profound knowledge and innumerable worldly and divine blessings.

Name:

Attia Alraf.

Subject :

~~Precis~~ & Composition.

Precis

like
well

The populated areas show damaged look now, due to big changes in the ~~world.~~ The areas that are damaged by natural hazards ~~are~~ now thickly populated.

Some ~~areas~~ of them ~~are~~ converted into beautiful places. Small populated areas are converted into large populated areas and vice versa, because change is constant, change is in human nature, so ~~due to this reason~~

~~he~~ ~~who?~~ created different luxurious things

for his comfort. The old traditional way of cooking, transport and communication ~~been~~ have converted into modern and easy ways. New inventions ~~have~~ made our life

easy and speedy. Some harsh changes occur due to some greedy and dangerous people like Gengis Khan and Hulagu Khan of mongol. ~~they~~ destroyed many glittering cities.

and higher civilization like Baghdad
and Delhi.

Title:

Change is in human blood.

title at the top word count is missing
main idea is picked but there is issue of coherence in the content
need improvement in basic grammar and sentence structure
7/20

not satisfactory