

Title: Oracles in Ancient Greece

Indent the paragraph.

Human beings, feeling powerless before life's mysteries and nature's vastness, sought divine guidance to direct their actions. Soothsayers interpreted signs such as lightning, bird flights, sacrifices, and dreams to reveal the will of the gods. At times, prophets or prophetesses entered states of divine ecstasy through which god directly communicated their message. These practices formed the institution of Greek oracles, most famously at Delphi under Apollo and at Dodona under Zeus.

Do not include examples in precis. Just write their essence. Precis should be a single paragraph.

✓/✓