

Q Explain the nature and importance of Criminology in detail

1) Introduction

Criminology deals with making law, breaking law and reacting to the breaking of law

- Edwin Sutherland

This quote clearly explains the domain of criminology, which adds value to its nature and importance. To further add, the nature of criminology is interdisciplinary, research based, policy oriented etc. All of these contribute in providing it a holistic view of the prevalent problems in a society. On the other hand, it also carries great importance. ~~for~~ such as to inform crime prevention, understanding crime pattern, spreading awareness etc. All of these converge to provide pragmatic measures for crime ~~prev~~ restriction.

2) Nature of criminology

Description:-

The following flow-chart highlights the nature of criminology.

2.1) Interdisciplinary in nature incorporating different subjects to ensure practicality

Criminology is interdisciplinary in nature.
