China also backs this stance. In this regard, China said that settling Afghan dispute is (not) only possible through peace talks under Afghanistan's leadership. Pakistan and China, for strategic partnership, will play their role in solving Afghan issue through dialogue.

"Treating Children Affectionately"

Modern educational theorists emphasize ~~with~~ negative ~~impacts~~ of not interfering with children instead of positive impacts of enjoying their company. By showing affection towards children, one can make ~~them~~ accept restrictions without resistance. The focus of love toward children should be their pleasure ~~instead~~ of some future return. By doing ~~this~~, teachers can limit ~~children's~~ freedom without any emotional damage. However, teachers cannot provide such pleasurable company to children ~~for~~ more than two hours. Also, fatiguing youth cannot preserve such ~~company~~ by just self controlling their irritation. In short, mistakes made by children ~~should~~ be treated in a way that makes them feel loved, not by just following some predefined rules.

"World and its misdirected energy"

People who are always busy doing useless things are source of all evils in the world. Like devil, who does not waste even a second. The stagnant condition of world is ~~not~~ due to laziness but due to lack of right actions. Most of its energy is misdirected like government officials spend their time in ~~useless~~ activities rather than staying free. They ~~will~~ offer more ~~advantage~~ to world if they do nothing (rather than do useless things). It will not harm their reputation. Even at present, half of European politicians can deliver more by doing nothing. Similarly, despite so many evils in the world, people in religious conferences misdirect their energy by criticizing unimportant things. It would be better for them to avoid such activities and recover their mental health.
