

Q.1. Importance of language:-

Humans are efficient in their horizons. Sapiens have many anthropologist called them Homo-faber - creator of tools could be the third one. Man's knowledge and efficiency come from words to become faber and sapiens. We should be worst creatures without language, with high IQ and no language we should be like xaphoos of gulliver's travels - creation that can't be controlled and therefore condemned forever between two extremes. It was language that gave access to knowledge and information, conveyed religious thoughts, ethical values and laws formations. It was language that ~~not~~ led to civilization.

sapien
Man is called Homo Sapiens and homo faber, but above all he is homo loquax - the talker. Without language, humans would be clever but frustrated creatures, like ~~small monkeys~~, unable to live by instinct or attain true humanity. Language made possible knowledge, communication, religion, ethics, ~~laws, and civilization... It is Speech that transforms humans from mere animals into beings capable of culture and progress.~~

Idea is ok. Do not include examples in precis.
Just write their essence.
