Why I want to become a ~~Police~~ officer?
One day I went to P office for casual leave. I wrote a application to SSP for grant casual leave. When I entered his personal ~~room~~ office's room. I shocked to see SSP. One man runs the District, and creates policies, and enforce it within district against culprits who violates the law and order and dealing with nuisance. He was also settling disputes of citizens with them. In turn, I talked to about my casual leave at this time, He rejected my application and said aQ (this I can't grant casual leave to anybody. So, you may go. When I came back to his office. I decided myself that I would become aSS officer. I told this news to my parents. They supported me and grant permission to become aSS officer. That time I searched a Academy for CSS preparation. At least I found a "NAP". I came here and got an admission for complete course. This journey is also challenging for me. I want to serve my country to becoming superior officer. This is the biggest opportunity for me and my parents. This through, I also want to fulfill dream ^{Finally} ~~Bingo!~~ of my parents.
