

Precis 2015

War and breakdown of Civilization

In the given Paragraph, The author shares his views regarding war and civilization.

It has been proven that wars are the major cause of breakdown of every civilization. It emerges like other evils and prolonged until it could not achieve its aims. In earlier, cost of war used to given to defeated groups, the defeated parties sought benefit from the winners to recover ~~the~~ ^{occurred during war} destructions.

As war does not initiate to manifest its hostilities, rather to enhances economic and political abilities to manipulate the natural resources and to organize man power.

However, when societies increase their abilities and resources for military use, contributing to wage war, which may prove to be fatal to its victims. In history significant efforts shown to dismantle war to save societies and civilization, although it depend upon the ~~the~~ moral sense of leaders to cease war.

A person cannot refuse to lend himself to any war, waged by its state, its self sacrificing however, when it comes to persuade state through peace strategies to resist aggression may seem unbrave and lacking heroic qualities.