Pakistan countering energy crisis due to installation of expensive IPPs. During 2005 - 2007, there was shortfall of electricity due to high demands. Therefore, the government of Pakistan decided to install foreign IPPs and signed agreements. In agreements the time period was also mentioned that how long IPPs would be responsible for the production of energy. Moreover, expenditures and payments were also decided. Beyond foreign IPPs, Pakistan has also installed local IPPs ~~for~~ to reduce energy crisis. Because ^{during 2013 the} inauguration of CPEC projects ~~required~~ ~~to~~ required more electricity. In 2014 - 2015 the demand of electric energy was 24000 MW. This demand provoked management to install more IPPs. However, today the incumbent government encountering energy debt due to excess of IPPs and their demanding bills. More interestingly, Pakistan has been paying for local IPPs in dollar, which pressurised the government financially. Such management leading to enhance energy crisis inside the country.
