

Topic: When there is a will, there is a way

Outline

1. Introduction

Thesis statement: A strong will is the primary key to success, as it has the power to find or create a way through obstacles. The principle works at every level, where firm determination helps individuals, nations and the global community to overcome challenges and reach their goals.

2. The indispensable connection between will and the way.

3. Individuals will: a tool for finding the way out of problems

a. Increasing persistence to solve problems effectively

(i) JK Rowling's 12 rejections before Harry Potter.

b. Motivate individuals to pursue goals regardless of challenges

(i) Abraham Lincoln's multiple defeats

c. Building courage to face risks and overcome fear

(i) Malala Yousufzai efforts for education.

d. Enhancing adaptability in changing circumstances

(i) Thompson Edison's finding 1000 new ways to invent bulb.

e. Fostering resilient will to recover from

Failures

(i) Colonel Sanders starting KFC at age 65 after 1009 rejections.

f. Fostering creative will to find a way out

(i) Wright Brothers finding a way to fly.

4. From personal will to paving a way for better society

a. Transforming individual's efforts into collective progress.

(i) Edhi Foundation

b. Visionary will for the growth and foundation of civilizations

(i) Quaid-e-Azam and Pakistan's independence.

c. Combating social stagnation with will to find a way of growth.

(i) Allama Iqbal's efforts for Muslim's education.

d. Political will to find a way of social reforms

(i) China's massive poverty alleviation program.

e. Will for social justice to make better society

(i) Rosa Parks sparking a revolution against racial discrimination.

5. Impact of will at different levels in finding a way:

a. Personal growth: will to become better

b. Community reforms: local volunteers drives binding way to cleaner community.

- c. National development. Post world war; Germany's will to rebuilt its economy
- d. Global impact : Nelson Mandela's will for social justice and equality.

6. Conclusion.

Essay

A strong will is the primary key to success, as it has the power to find or create a way through obstacles. The principle works at every level, where firm determination helps individuals, nations and global community to overcome challenges and reach their goals. The distance between an individual and their success is not measured in miles but in will power. A person may be standing next to their goal and still fail if they lack the will to reach out and find a way. There is a direct connectedness between will and the way of success. Will play a major role in finding a way out of the problems. Will helps in increasing persistence to solve problems and motivate them to reach and pursue goals regardless of the challenges. Moreover, will also helps in building courage to face risks and overcome fear. In addition to it, will also help in enhancing adaptability in changing circumstances and foster resilience to recover from will. Different examples can be seen around the world where will supported Supported individuals to find and reach their goal. The personal will of an individual pave way for a better society, aiding in transformation of individual's efforts to collective progress. Moreover, visionary will help in the betterment of society. In addition to it, political will and will to combat social injustice and stagnation also play a major role in paving way for a better society. Will play a major role in finding ways at all micro to macro level such as individuals growth, community reforms, national development and global reforms. Hence will is a major driving tool to find way and reach the destination.

The connection between will and the way is dispensible because without will not even a single step further can be taken by an individual. The will of an individual motivates him to move towards the goals and make efforts to reach the destination. Will acts as a mental motivation which allow individuals to see positive possibilities and desire to work for them. Without will not even luck can work in favour as luck also wants desire to work and motivation to take steps towards the goal. It is only will through which an individual can find a way to reach the destination regardless of the circumstances and hurdles.

faced.

Will acts as a major tool in the life of an individual to find the way out of problems and reach the desired goal. Will help in increasing persistence in individuals which help him to solve problems effectively. It helps individuals to increase persistence when the series of obstacles and rejection come in the way. It is only will of an individual which increase persistence in an individual to reach desired goal and pass every hurdle. In this regard, the example of JK Rowling is worth mentioning who faced rejections twelve times in a row but it was only his will which increased persistence in him through which he reached his desired goal. Therefore, will play a major role in increasing persistence in an individual to move towards his goal.

In addition to the increase in persistence, will also motivate individuals to pursue goals regardless of challenges. The will power of an individual helps keep him motivated even if the whole world tries to demotivate him. Moreover, will power motivates individual to find a way even when the path is not clear. The individuals who have the will to do Something ultimately get what they desire through motivation present in them. For instance, it was only the willpower of ~~the~~ Abraham Lincoln which kept him motivated even after he lost all his business. He stood up again motivating himself only due to his willpower. Therefore, will helps individuals to motivate themselves and find a way towards their goals.

Besides motivation, will also helps individuals to build courage to face risks and overcome failures. The individuals need a lot of courage when they work towards their goals as the way towards the goal is full of risks, challenges and failures. It is only courage which can help individual to move regardless of risks in the way. This courage is only provided by will. Will helps individuals to internally gain power and courage to find the way towards the goal. For instance, Malala Yousufzai, Pakistani activist had the goal to gain education and spread it regardless of the risks in her way. Although she faced a lot of hurdles, it was only her will which gave her the courage to gain education. Therefore, will play a major role to gain courage and pave way towards the destined goal.

Along with aiding in building courage will also helps enhance adaptability in changing circumstances. Will allows individuals to modify their strategies when faced with challenges. When the initial way of the goal is blocked will helps to find new ways to find the same goals. The goal remain same but due to will of an individuals he tries different methods to reach the destination. A classic example of this is Thomas Edison who famously failed nearly 1000 times while trying to invent the bulb. Instead of viewing these attempts as failures, his will allowed him to adapt his perspective and find way to make bulb. Therefore, it ~~is~~ is will of an individual that fosters adaptability to help individuals to reach his goal regardless of the circumstances faced in the way.

In addition to enhancing adaptability will also helps in fostering resilience to recover from failures. When an individual faces failures and rejections mostly he losses his faith in himself and then give up on the task. However, it is will power of an individual that fosters resilience in him to recover from failures and get the way towards his goals. Resilience helps individuals to recover from the set backs and transforms failures into future success. A major example of it is Colonel Sanders, the man behind the recipe of KFC chicken. He faced 1009 rejections but it was his will power which helped him gain resilience and then he finally reached his goal opening a restaurant at the age of 65. Therefore, world appreciates people who have will power which helps individuals to gain resilience and reach their prime destination.

In addition to fostering resilience in an individual, will also helps an individual to enhance creativity to find the way to solve the problem or reach the desired destination. It ~~is~~ is the will of an individual that helps him to enhance his creativity. Sometimes the way to goal is clear but only require creativity of minds. It is only through will this creativity is enhanced which ultimately helps in ~~the~~ finding the way to the desired goal. For instance, the dream of Wright Brothers was to fly in the sky. It was only their will power that help them enhance their creativity and make the world's first Aeroplane. Therefore Will play a major role in fostering creativity. pave the way towards the desired goal.

Beyond personal achievements, will also helps to make broader impact from personal will to paving the way for a better society. The will of individuals pave the way for collective progress making better society. When a person is determined to reach a goal, his will brings more people together to make collective efforts for the society. The will of a single will creates a big impact to counter an issue and reach a goal. for instance, Abdul Sattar Edhi started with just one old ambulance, to serve the humanity. However his will to find the way to help others also collected more people creating the world's largest collective network. Therefore, will not only aids in making a way for an individuals but also help finding a way to make a greater impact in the society.

In addition to making combine efforts through collective will, the visionary will of a single individual can also pave the way for the growth and foundations of civilizations. The will of an individuals to grow and form civilizations can create new nations. When a leader has a firm goal and a strong will, he can unite millions of people who collectively work for foundation of civilizations with strong will even if the way is hindered by hundreds of obstacles. In this regard, the example of Quaid-e-Azam is worth mentioning whose will to form a separate nation united thousands of Muslims. It was his will, which ~~ff~~ countered obstacles in the way and formed Pakistan. Therefore the willpower of a single individual to find a way collects hundreds to collectively work towards the desired goal.

Beside the visionary will for growth and foundation of civilizations, will also helps in combating social stagnation ~~to~~ to find a way of growth for ~~at~~ the whole society. It is only a will of a single individual to grow a society which can combine individuals efforts, motivates them and make them work towards the desired goal. Hence the individual will to counter the social stagnation and grow a society can pave the way of growth of the ~~we~~ whole society. For instance, it was the personal will of Allama Iqbal to educate the Muslims of the subcontinent. However his will did not ~~to~~ remained limited to him but resulted in collective will and aided in the growth of the Muslims. Therefore, the will of a single individual can pave the way for the growth of entire society collectively.

In addition to combating social stagnation through will, the political will can help find a way of social reforms for a better society. When the political leaders have the will to make their countries better and solve country's problems, they find new ways to manage resources and make better laws. Without this firm decision making and strong will of the political leader, the way to solve problems of country can ~~be~~ never be discarded. For instance ~~the~~ China's massive program to end poverty where the Chinese government had the strong will to lift the population from poverty line resulted in the alleviation of 800 million people from the poverty line in China. This shows that the political will aids in paving the way to solve the country's issues and make way for its growth.

Besides political will paving the way for country's reforms, the will for social justice of a single individual can pave the way for social justice and revolutions in the society. The will of an individual to ~~gain~~ gain social justice in society can collect millions which can result in revolution in society. It is only the will of individuals who led the reforms of social justice in society. For instance, Rosa Parks a black woman, refused to give up her seat in bus. Her will for social equality to white people started a massive movement that eventually ended unfair racial laws in United States. Therefore, the will of a single individual can result in social reforms and revolutions in society.

The will have an impact at different levels in finding a way from micro to macro levels. The will for personal growth of an individual help him to become better in society. When someone faces a very difficult situation for a long time, it is their will power that keeps them mentally strong and have positive mindset. This helps them to improve their personality and have character development. This help them to pave the way to become better. Therefore, willpower is the most important factor in shaping a person's character and ~~re~~ destiny.

Will not only have an impact on the personal growth but it also help finding ways for community reforms. The will to change the community and make it a better place to live can easily find a way to do so. In this way it makes way to community reforms to make a better community. The will of a single individual to transform the community can combine hundreds of community members who support the cause, and make the community ~~for~~ better. For instance a local volunteer who want to clean the community can pave the way, through his will, for community reforms. Therefore will play a major role at community level for community reforms.

In addition to the will's positive role in paving the way for better community, will also helps in national development. The will of the individuals to make the nations better, play a major role for the nations development. For instance, the will of Germany after world war, played a significant role to make the economic development of the nation. It was the will that gave them the motivation and help them find the way to rebuilt their nation. Therefore, will play a major role on national level for national development.

Other than national development, will also pave the way for a global impact. ~~The~~ The will of a single individual can make macro impact making global changes. The will not only make global impact but also helps finding the way to change global issues which are considered impossible to solve. For instance, it was Nelson Mandela's will to find social justice which make the way for the global reforms and providing her social justice. Hence the will of a single individual can help make a way for a major global impact.

In conclusion, will is a major necessity to get success and solve the issues. It is only through will, an individual can find the way to reach his desired goal. Will acts as a tool to find ways to reach destination as it increase persistence, provides motivation, build courage and enhance adaptability according to the changing circumstances. Moreover, will also foster resilience and creativity to reach the destination regardless of the failures encountered in the way. The personal will of an individual can also help in paving the way for collective progress and growth of civilizations. Moreover, it can also counter social stagnation. In addition to it, the political will of an individual can help find a way for better policy reforms for a better society. Will not only creates a micro impact only in the life of an individual but can also make a macro impact from community reforms to national development and then to global impact. Hence it is only the will which can help find the way regardless of the hurdles and obstacles in the way of the goal.

— x — x —

Paragraph # 3.

Title : The true meaning of life.

Tragedies in individual life result in the notice to serious life questions to himself about the reality of life. However, the reality cannot hit only through tragedies but can also occur if the person imagines them. The human power to imagine events can help them understand the reality of life. Once these tragedies are imagined, the perspectives of individuals about life changes. Individuals start loving and appreciating their loved ones more than before. They also start to lessen evil acts when they imagine that their death is near. Hence importance of principles and values increases among them. In this way different methods can help individuals connect to their values. But every method gets the author at the end result that humans became respectful and prioritize values. Moreover, they move forward from smaller to larger perspective of life.

Words in passage = 416

Words in pre cis = 138