

Overview of Pakistan's Economy in 2025

well done all the best luck ..try to avoid writing in pronoun

One of the most significant change in 2025 is the gradual stabilization of economy. In 2025, Pakistan witnessed a decline in the inflation rate from 23.4% to 5%, remittances which are the main source of foreign reserves also increased upto 26% in the Fiscal year 2024-2025 and Pakistan stock exchange KSE-100 also cross milestone of 17,000 points. These indicators shows the stability in the economy and if the government maintain that fiscal discipline, Pakistan will move towards economic growth. Moreover, we witnessed a positive signal from inflation rate, remittances and IT exports but there is an decline increase in trade deficit and exports are not increasing which shows there are still no structural reforms because without exports our economy will remain fragile. So, to keep the economy stable and move it towards growth we need to do structural reforms which should include increase in exports, educational reforms, and most importantly managing unemployment. Furthermore, government need to cut down their expenses which are not contributing in the growth of the country because real test is whether 2026 will bring small gains into lasting reforms or the cycle continues to repeat.
