History is full of people who have started their lives with very difficult situations but later became some of the successful and famous personalities. Success, respect and fame is never served up to you in a platter, only wealth can be served up to you in a ~~pl~~ platter, only under one condition that your ancestors must have assets, only then you will receive wealth. You can buy material goods with wealth but ~~not~~ happiness. Sometimes one spends decades in earning respect, while only a moment is enough to lose it all.
